ABOUT DR. BROWN

Dr. Brown stimulates students with her lively and entertaining presentations. Her friendly manner reaches her audiences where they are and shows them how to get to where they want to be.

Her educational background as a USC graduate includes a BA in English with a minor in Drama, a M.S. in Education with a specialization in reading, and a Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction with a minor in Tests and Measurements.

Over her 30-year career Dr. Brown has taught junior high through graduate students, and trained teachers for local universities. She also ran a successful private tutoring program for children and adults in Los Angeles, CA.

Her writing credits include language arts texts, academic articles, curriculum, grant proposals and motivational guides.

The philosophy she lives by is "No one becomes someone without the help of someone else."

Following a successful seminar on time management, Dr. Brown is greeted by Heidi Lockhart, Director of the Fullerton College Transfer Center.

"The greatest value of the planning process is not what it does to your schedule, but what it does to your head. As you begin to think more in terms of importance you begin to see time differently. You become empowered to put first things first in a significant way."
Stephen Covey, The Seven Habits of Highly Effective People
